Papers of Dennis Cullum

[1930s]-1985

Personal papers compiled by the athlete and coach, Dennis Cullum. The collection includes a significant number of programmes, including a number for various track and field events which Dennis himself competed; material relating to the British Empire and Commonwealth Games, with a number of items from the 1958 Cardiff Games; results and statistics; various publications collected by Dennis; correspondence; and a small amount of personalia including Dennis' membership certificate for the London Athletic Club.

Much material relates to Dennis' interests in field events, especially hammer throwing, and many of the programmes included in this collection feature throwing events.

Administrative history: Dennis Noel Johnson Cullum, born 1913, was a respected athlete, specialising in field events, but is perhaps better known for his success as a hammer throwing coach. He was a Grade Two field events referee and was one of the first AAA senior hammer coaches, at one time coaching the majority of British hammer throwers including Howard Payne, Mike Ellis, Peter Allday, Don Anthony, Alec Valentine, Warwick Dixon, Laurie Hale (Wales) and various juniors. He was also a special coaching organiser and a one-time lecturer at the AAA Summer School.

He had been introduced to the hammer by John Freeborn, of the Achilles Club, who had made his one and only appearance in the event for Great Britain in 1925 at the age of 37. Cullum's coaching philosophy was straightforward and based on technique, rhythm and mental qualities, pragmatically applied. Explaining his methods in 1955, he said: 'I also try to reproduce in training the conditions likely to be met in competition, as it is no good an athlete training to produce his best throw after 20 warming-up throws. At the White City he might not get the opportunity for a warm-up throw at all'.

Internal evidence indicates that during the mid-1930s he reported on athletics meetings for The Sunday Express. He was elected a member of the London Athletic Club on 21 February 1939. The Second World War temporarily ended his sporting career and Dennis served with the Royal Army Service Corps, rising to the rank of Major. Upon his return from the war, he became a member of the AAA coaching committee between 1948-1957. On a rented field near to his home, he offered dedicated training to young athletes most weekends. He also drove many competitors to athletics meetings at his own cost and has been described as one of 'the army of volunteers who kept the sport going even at the highest level'. Harrow Council minutes from 1946 include a reference to a rejected application from Dennis for permission to use Montesole Playing Fields for 'the sports of throwing the discus and hammer'.

Dennis was still competing in hammer throwing events during the late 1940s and won the Southern Counties' title in 1947 and 1948. During 1953, at the age of 40, he set a personal best of 51.25m. He was an announcer at the 1958 British Empire and Commonwealth Games held in Cardiff. He was also, for many years, an announcer at White City Stadium. In later life he was a Vice-President of the London Athletic Club and was also former President and Chairman of the Coaching Committee for Hertfordshire AAA. He was a founder and past President of The Hammer Circle alongside Peter Allday, Don Anthony, Charles Reidy, Don Vanhegan, Frank Gandy and Dennis Moore. The Hammer Circle was a timely innovation: at the time throwing events were regarded as tedious, dangerous and sometimes slightly comic. Dennis' commitment and dedication to the sport meant that the 'Cullum Circus' would often tour numerous athletics meetings after having persuaded promoters to include hammer events on the understanding that the throwers would also mark out the area, judge the event, record it, announce it and repair holes in the turf afterwards.

In his professional life, Dennis was Director of the London Instrument Company in Cambridge for nine years and was closely connected with the development of Cantabrian International Athletic equipment. After 1967 Dennis left Cambridge for Exeter and this appears to have ended his athletics and coaching career. He trained to be a Physical Education teacher, completing a one-year course at Loughborough College. This was to be a short-lived career change and Dennis returned to engineering: 'I couldn't work in a profession which displays such pathetic deference' he is alleged to have said.

Papers of Dennis Cullum

Dennis presented a cup to The Hammer Circle on the occasion of its 21st birthday, in September 1973. In 1980 he suggested the cup should be used as an annual award to the junior member achieving the longest competitive throw of the year. In yet another presentation he donated a framed photograph of Litvinov which had been presented to him by Howard Payne in gratitude to his former coach.

Dennis married Doris Thomas, known as Tommy, in Harrow in 1958. His step-son, Barry Thomas, was a Great British 'B' International for throwing events.

ATH/DC/1/1 Athletics programmes 1935-1963

Collection of athletics programmes, almost entirely from UK meetings and organised by local clubs or regional organisations. The collection focuses on track and field meetings although there are references to cycling races and cross-country events. A number of programmes relating to school and varsity athletics as well as meeting with the Royal Air Force, Royal Navy and Army. There are a number of programmes for Highland Games meetings such as the Hertfordshire Highland Games; AAA meetings held at Welwyn Gosling Stadium; British Games; and AAA Annual Championships, many meetings being held at White City Stadium.

Some programmes have been personally annotated with placings and timings. Many volumes are only partially annotated with manuscript additions focusing on field events, primarily hammer throwing. Although a broad range of athletics clubs across England are represented there is significant representation from clubs located in London and the home counties, Dennis Cullum having a closer geographical connection to, and involvement with, these clubs. The collection includes a number of pre-Second World War programmes with a significant number dated

1939. There is heavy coverage from meetings held during the 1950s and early 1960s. In 1956 there is a programme for paralympic events.

Dennis Cullum features as a competitor in a number of these programmes, competing in hammer throwing and javelin events. He also features as a field judge at some meetings. The programmes include names of officials, lists of competitors, timetable of events and some include details of previous records and best times. Advertisements are often included.
