Papers of Joe Binks

[1920s-1950s]

Papers compiled by the athlete and athletics commentator Joe Binks. The collection primarily comprises results, compiled circa 1957, of various UK and overseas athletics events held during the 19th and 20th centuries. These events include track and field, road racing and cross-country meetings. The collection also includes an athletics programme and two photographs of Joe Binks.

Administrative history: Joseph (Joe) Binks (1874-1966) was a former holder of the British mile record. Running for the Unity Athletic Club, he won the Mile Championship held at Stamford Bridge in 1902, establishing a British amateur record of 4 minutes 16.8 seconds. Previous to then the fastest known time for a mile by a British amateur was 4:17 by F. E. Bacon at the AAA Championships in 1895. It was said that the 1902 race was built up by four men, each of whom took a turn at pace-making with a view to running their opponents off their legs. Binks' 1902 record would hold for nearly 20 years until it was eventually broken by Albert Hill in 1921.

As a runner, Binks was contemporary with Alfred Shrubbs and ran races as a Highgate Harrier. Binks won the Southern Counties' Cross-Country Association's open mile race for veterans in 1917. But he was perhaps best known as an athletics commentator and writer: he was athletics correspondent for the News of the World for 54 years and reported on every Olympic Games from London in 1908 to Melbourne in 1956. He died in Salisbury in 1966, aged 91.
