CADBURY RESEARCH LIBRARY: SPECIAL COLLECTIONS
PRELIMINARY LIST OF SAVE THE CHILDREN PHOTOGRAPHS and SLIDES, c 1997-2003

Introduction

This list of photographs and slides (transparencies) follows on from the preliminary list of photographs and transparencies c 1920-1997, also available. It is adapted from logs supplied by SCF. SCF has used images as a means of influencing the general public from the very earliest days of the organisation in order to raise awareness of the plight of children and thus to raise funds to support its relief programmes. Since 1985, SCF has adopted a set of image guidelines designed to ensure that such images as are used by SCF to promote its work do not damage the people they portray by perpetuating negative stereotypes and ignoring the rights and dignity of the subjects. The photographs and slides form an important record of the work of the organisation.

There has always been an inclination among those who work in relief organisations to put forward the most shocking images in the knowledge that these will undoubtedly have the most immediate impact both in encouraging the public to subscribe to relief funds, and in a broader sense to raise an event in public awareness enough to make it a political issue, so that action may be taken on it. Over the years SCF, like other organisations, has used shocking images to achieve both these ends. It has been noticed, however, that the effect of such images on the public consciousness soon palls, and on a number of occasions SCF has seen the need to look to more positive images, on the grounds not of the stereotypical nature of the images, but rather because there is a noticeable falling away of income as even the most horrific pictures become passé to a jaded public.

SCF in recent years has tended to commission photographers in such a way that the photographer retains copyright, which means that while most recent images are available for SCF's internal use, they are only available to members of the public for viewing for the information they depict. Copying is not permitted except with specific permission from SCF.

Description

The images listed here reflect aspects of SCF's work since c 1997, both in the UK and across the world, except for the work of volunteers, which for various reasons is not often recorded.

It should be noted that occasionally photographs and slides may be found in other sections of the SCF archive - in country files, for example. Country files dated after 1972 are not generally available for research yet without the specific permission of SCF, but upon request staff here can check for the existence of images in them. It is intended to enhance the description of each group of photographs and slides in due course, to include information taken from the explanatory captions pasted onto the backs of photos or noted on the slide surrounds. These captions give general useful information about the particular SCF project depicted but can include brief, but specific, details on the individual images.

Information from the original logs supplied by SCF, which contains additional notes relating to the broad theme of projects, rights and licensing, is available upon request.

Arrangement: Photographs

This current listing of photographs has been compiled to create a summary list of all the photographs, box by box. It is arranged roughly in alphabetical order of country name, with UK at the end.

A few photographs and negatives are included in the last boxes of the post-1997 sequence of slides. Reference is made to the original box number in which the material was packed as SCF retains this reference for internal use. The photographs are in Photograph Boxes 1-10, 15-21, 23-29, reference numbers reflect the B (Box) number and then the E (Envelope) number (within the box, individual or series of photographs are currently stored in envelopes).

Arrangement: Slides (transparencies)

This current listing of slides has been compiled to create a summary list of all the slides, box by box. It is arranged roughly in alphabetical order of country name, with the UK projects coming at the end. There are slides of SCF staff and sets of slides from the series made for talks under the 'Speaking Out' heading. A few photographs and negatives are included in the last boxes. Reference is made to the original box number in which the material was packed as SCF retains this reference for internal use (Slide Boxes 1-14, 22).

Note:

In this list, dates are expressed in abbreviated form. 'Mar 97' stands for 'March 1997'; 'Nov 02' stands for 'November 2002', for example.

In recent years SCF has alluded to itself as 'SC'.
