Records of Toc H

Finding number: TOCH
Records of Toc H

Records of Toc H include administrative papers, including minutes of Central Council together with minutes of many of its committees. These committees include the Elections Committee, Central Executive Committee, Finance and Property Committee (formerly separate committees), Revenue Committee, Womens Association Joint Appeals Committee, Youth Service Committee, Schools Committee, Central House Committee, General Purposes Committee, Personnel Committee and National Projects Committee.

The collection also includes extensive sequences of records relating to individual Toc H branches, as well as material relating to Toc H membership and information about individual Marks and centres. There are papers relating to the Womens Association of Toc H as well as papers relating to work with the services.

The collection comprises large quantities of photographs of individuals associated with Toc H and activities undertaken; a significant amount of Toc H publications and promotional literature including handbooks, magazines and journal issues; and documents relating to Toc H national strategy and policy. The collection also includes newspaper cuttings, artefacts, sound and audio visual materials.

Taken as a whole, the material provides a valuable insight into the activities of an international Christian organisation throughout much of the 20th century and into the 21st century. Papers are of potential use for exploring the history of charitable initiatives, the development of community work, as well as wider issues relating to health and wellbeing.

Administrative history: Toc H is an international Christian movement which developed from a soldiers’ rest and recreation centre named Talbot House founded in Poperinge, near Ypres or Ieper, in Belgium during December 1915. Talbot House was named in memory of Gilbert Talbot, son of Edward Talbot (1844-1934), Bishop of Winchester, who had been killed at Hooge in July 1915. It was founded by Gilbert's elder brother, Neville (1879-1943), who was a senior army chaplain, and Reverend Philip Thomas Byard Clayton (1885-1972), known as 'Tubby'. The name 'Toc H' is an abbreviation for Talbot House: 'Toc' signifying the letter 'T' in the signals spelling alphabet used by the British army during the First World War.

Poperinge was a busy transfer station where troops fighting on the battlefields of Flanders were billeted. Talbot House was designed to be an 'Every Man's Club' where all soldiers, regardless of rank, were welcome. The house was open to men and officers alike and included a library, kitchen and garden. A chapel was created in the attic for religious services and devotions. Clayton organised debates and concerts and men could post messages for missing comrades.

In 1920 Clayton established a Christian youth centre in London which was also named Toc H. After acquiring a property in Queensgate Place, Knightsbridge, Clayton opened the first Toc H hostel designed as a home for men coming to London for work but having nowhere to stay. The property quickly proved too small and they soon moved to a larger house in Queensgate Gardens - this was named, in army fashion, Mark 1. By 1921 there were three Marks in London. The first outside London was established in Cheltenham. Bands of men were initially awarded a Rushlight before being elevated to Branch status and consequently granted one of the famous Lamps, first introduced in 1922. Further branches of Toc H were also established in other countries across the world, including Australian branches in Victoria and Adelaide, established during 1925.

The earliest statement of the aims of Toc H was designed by Clayton, Rev 'Dick' Sheppard and Sir Alexander Patterson early in 1920. It was subsequently revised in 1936 and 1967 and is known as the 'Four Points of the Compass'. The statement can be summarised as: 'to love widely; to build bravely; to think fairly; to witness humbly'.
Toc H attracted the patronage of Alexander Paterson, Henry Willink and G. K. Chesterton. During these early years, the Prince of Wales (the future Edward VIII) was an active supporter and appeared at many annual festivals. The movement was granted a Royal Charter in 1922, the same year Clayton became the vicar of All Hallows-by-the-Tower in London. This led to the church becoming Toc H's Guild church.

Toc H was initially only open to men but under the leadership of Alison MacFie, the League of Women Helpers was established to support Toc H work. The League developed an active role in Toc H, especially during the Second World War when many men were away fighting. The League later became known as the Women's Section and merged fully with the men's movement in 1971.

By the 1940s and 1950s the movement was large and powerful although contained few young members. In the late 1950s a Project scheme was established where young people could volunteer with environmental work, manual projects, play schemes and work with the elderly, disabled or disadvantaged.

In the present day, the Toc H movement is still guided by its original ethos: attempting to ease the burdens of others through acts of service and promote reconciliation in order to bring disparate sections of society together.

TOCH/ACC/1  Papers of Oswald Stevens 'Ossie' Nock  [early 20th century]
Printed materials collected by O. S. 'Ossie' Nock and primarily relating to his involvement with Toc H Mark I in London between 1927 and 1930.

Administrative history: Ossie Nock was born on 21 January 1905 in Sutton Coldfield, the son of a bank employee, Samuel James Nock, and a schoolteacher, Rose Amy nee Stevens. The family moved south and Ossie was educated at Marlborough House and Reading School. They moved to Barrow in Furness in 1916 and Ossie became a border at Giggleswick School. He obtained an engineering degree in 1924 from the City and Guilds Engineering College in London.

Between 1921 and 1929 he was a resident at Toc H and wrote a diary concerning his life at Toc H Mark I in London. He was House Secretary between 1927 and 1928.

The recession during the 1930s led Nock to seek other forms of income and he completed a correspondence course in journalism. He submitted numerous articles to magazines and would have many works accepted for publication. He published under pseudonyms including 'C.K.S.', 'C. K. Stevens', and 'Railway Engineer'.

Ossie married Olivia Hattie Ravenall (c1913-1987) in 1937.

Following the Second World War he became chief brake draughtsman at the Westinghouse organisation; and he managed British Rail's modernisation plan and expansion of the company's drawing office during the mid-1950s. Nock's first published book was Locomotives of Sir Nigel Gresley published 1945, and based on an earlier series of ten articles in The Railway Magazine.

TOCH/H/3/4/34 Sydney D. Walker's travel journal: manuscript notebook entitled, 'Across the Pyrenees on

Foot to Andora and a peep at The Mediterranean and Southern France and First impressions of France

Sydney D. Walker's travel journal: manuscript notebook entitled, 'Across the Pyrenees on Foot to Andora and a peep at The Mediterranean and Southern France and First impressions of France', dated August 1923 with an end note by Sydney D. Walker, dated Edinburgh December 1923. In the end note, Walker describes the journal as a 'souvenir of the most memorable journey of' his life, a memory of friends made and a 'thank you' to friends, family and Toc H for making the trip 'possible and successful'. The volume is illustrated throughout with postcards, captioned photographs and other mementoes; a map of the Pyrenees and a cutting of a photograph of Rev P. B. Clayton from 'Tales of Talbot House' are pasted in at the front. Appendices include notes of expenses, suggestions for future trips and a 'pictorial summary of the trip in 14 postcards'. There is a manuscript index at the front of the volume. A printed address label for Mrs Margaret Davies, Solihull, is stuck on to the front cover.

TOCH/J/1/4  In Touch  1991-2019

In Touch was a magazine that was originally a West Midlands regional publication that was produced twice a year. In 2006 it seems to have been upgraded in quality (colour and photographs) and seemed to drop the West Midlands from its advertising - hence becoming a national magazine. It continued to be produced twice a year, until it became a triannual publication in 2015
